

music Teen star at cathedral

She's one to watch

BRILLIANT teenage violinist Chloe Hanslip is set to wow audiences on Saturday, October 26, when she joins the Guildford Philharmonic Choir in a concert at Guildford Cathedral.

The Guildford-born 15-year-old will play pieces including work by Dvorak.

Godalming record shop proprietor Tom Briggs of Record Corner in Pound Lane is a real enthusiast. "She is brilliant," he said.

Chloe, who now hails from Camberley, has also just launched her second CD and Tom has plans afoot to get the young violinist into his store in December to sign copies.

"She is keen to come, we just have to set a date," he said this week.

In the summer she used her prodigious talent to wow the crowds in Scandinavia.

As the youngest person to secure a contract with Warner Classic International, she was among a host of internationally known artists visiting the Norwegian music academy Skodje Fjord Cadenza.

But despite being the same age as her fellow musicians Chloe was invited to take part as a soloist, not a student.

Those who take part are hand picked from all over the world and each day they receive tuition from top classical musicians. But the highlight of the course is when they are put together to become The Fjord Cadenza Symphony Orchestra, under their world famous conductor Arild Remmereit.

Chloe, who made her first record, with The

Violinist Chloe Hanslip.

London Symphony Orchestra, when she was only 13, was also told during her stay in Norway that the recording had received a prestigious award from Germany for best new classical release 2002.

But the young violinist, who has performed at Carnegie Hall in New York and appeared in a Hollywood film alongside Ralph Fiennes and Liv Tyler, is unfazed by her success saying her career high point so far has been the recording of her first CD.

She said: "I think that one such point would be making the CD with the London Symphony Orchestra.

"To be able to play with 72 musicians is very exciting indeed. It was also a great experience participating in the New Year's Eve concert at the Barbican Concert Hall with the London Symphony Orchestra when I was 14."

Bruch Violin Concerto Chloe Hanslip

Dvorak Requiem

Brandenburg Symphony Orchestra
Conductor Jeremy Backhouse

Saturday October 26th
7.30pm Guildford Cathedral

Tickets £15 and £5 concessions
Guildford Tourist Information 01483 444333

Guildford Philharmonic Choir